

COVID-19 Bulletin

Important alert from Spencer Edwards and Edwards Business Coaching

My name is Spencer Edwards, the owner of Edwards Business Coaching. Because of the coronavirus scare, social distancing has become the new catch phrase across the world. We understand what we are dealing with at hand and have unique systems set up that help you get where you need to be today.

This is the perfect time to sell your business and we have the proper tools to get it done during social distancing.

Considering the serious issues in our country, business brokers are in higher demand than normal. The issues going on the country make a high number of business sellers escalate their retirement plans and others wanting to cash out before it gets any worse. On the other side, entrepreneurial business buyers are looking for opportunity knowing that everything will recover in time.

ALL IS NOT LOST

We have the industry's only process that can get your business sold without risk if you are self-quarantining. We developed an electronic way to protect your health that includes video conferencing and secure online file sharing. It is all confidential and secured by non-disclosure agreements.

- 1. Sell from Home
- 2. Protect your Safety
- 3. Get Top Dollar
- 4. Huge Buyer Pool
- 5. Professional
- 6. Confidential

There is no need for you to have tech skills as we will set it all up and walk you through it. This is actually a great time to sell and we always want to help you do so while protecting your safety.

Other services that we provide.

We can help you increase cash flow.
We can help you get financing
We can help business buyers find a business for sale.